And let us consider how to stir up one another to love and good works, not neglecting to meet together, as is the habit of some, but encouraging one another, and all the more as you see the Day drawing near.

James 4:7 - Submit yourselves therefore to God. Resist the devil, and he will flee from you.

Mark 16:16 - Whoever believes and is baptized will be saved, but whoever does not believe will be condemned.

Luke 18:41 - What do you want me to do for you? Sometimes we fear confrontation or don't want to seem too aggressive in sharing our faith. But there can be a winsome way to witness about Jesus – ask questions. For a man who was God and knew everything, Jesus sure asked a lot of questions. While we don't know His purposes, it is clear his questions prompted others to respond. He asked Andrew, what do you want, Jn. 1:38. He asked blind Bartimaeus, what do you want me to do for you? Mk. 10:51. He asked the paralyzed man, do you want to get well? Jn. 5:6. Transformation happened for each of these individuals after Jesus' initial question. Is there someone you want to approach about matters of faith? Ask God to give you the right question to ask.

Jesus' healing of the blind beggar in Lk. 18:35-41 is a concrete fulfillment of His self-described purpose "to proclaim good news to the poor...and recover of sight for the blind, to set the oppressed free, to proclaim the year of the Lord's favor (Lk. 4:18-19). This account of healing is placed immediately after an account of the disciples' failure to understand Jesus' clear description of His coming suffering and death, Lk. 18:31-34. These two accounts are likely connected to the theme of Christ's suffering and humility, vs. 14. The disciples as well as the crowds couldn't comprehend a Savior willing to suffer for the lowest and most disregarded members of society, such as someone blind, vs. 35. But while they remained spiritually blind to Jesus' heart and purpose, the blind man was willing to trust Him and joyfully received his sight (vs. 43).
