And let us consider one another in order to stir up love and good works, not forsaking the assembling of ourselves together, as is the manner of some, but exhorting one another, and so much the more as you see the Day approaching. (Hebrews 10:23-24)

Hebrews 10:24-25

And let us consider how to stir up one another to love and good works, not neglecting to meet together, as is the habit of some, but encouraging one another, and all the more as you see the Day drawing near.

James 4:7 - Submit yourselves therefore to God. Resist the devil, and he will flee from you.

Mark 16:16 - Whoever believes and is baptized will be saved, but whoever does not believe will be condemned.

Prayer of Desperation: Jn. 11:23 Jesus said to her, “your brother will rise again.” How often have you prayed a prayer of desperation in a crisis? Mary and Martha did! They sent a desperate message to Jesus, their brother Lazarus, “the one whom you love,” was gravely ill, (Jn. 11:3). When Jesus finally arrived, Lazarus had been dead for four days. Martha, in anguish, said to Jesus: “If you had been here, my brother would not have died” (v. 21). She knew Christ could heal the sick, but couldn't imagine His power to overcome death, Jesus, of course, raised Lazarus, a foreshadowing of His own resurrection weeks later. While we don't really understand death Jesus gives us a transcending assurance: “I am the resurrection and the life. The one who believes in me will live, even though they die” (v. 25). As believers, whatever happens, we know we will be with Jesus. Maybe that makes our desperate prayers a little less desperate. Insight into Jn. 11:1-7, 17-25: The idea of a future resurrection was an ancient Jewish belief (Jn. 11:23). Job was confident that after his death he would “see God” (Job

19:26-27). The prophets proclaimed that people would rise from the dead when the messiah came (see Isa. 26:19; Dan. 12:2). Paul warned that “if there is no resurrection, then not even Christ has been raised” and we “are still in our sins” (1 Cor. 15:3, 17). Because Christ has “been raised from the dead” (v. 20), we can look beyond our desperate situation to the day when “the dead will be raised imperishable” (v. 52).
